3. Complete required courses

4. Maintain a 2.7 grade point average throughout the program and earn at least a C- in all coursework. Candidates not achieving a 2.7 GPA upon completion of all regular coursework will not be approved for student teaching or be able to complete the program.

5. Successfully complete the student teaching experience and the student teaching portfolio

PERMITS AND ALTERNATIVE LICENSES

The TTT permit and the Alternative Special Education License are available to candidates enrolled in a Transition to Teaching program and hired by a school corporation. CPR certification and suicide prevention training are requirements for both. If pursuing licensure in a content area other than their undergraduate degree, candidates will be required to pass the content area test before qualifying for a TTT permit. Candidates need to be fully accepted and remain active in the program to retain their eligibility for this three-year, non-renewable permit/license. Director of Teacher Licensure Joy Elzinga is the contact person (joy_elzinga@taylor.edu).

State Licensure Requirements

The Indiana Department of Education has established certain requirements in order to apply for a license.

Content Area Assessment: Content assessments measure knowledge of the licensure area(s). Both elementary and secondary programs have content area tests taken through Praxis.

Pedagogy Assessment: All candidates must pass the Praxis pedagogy assessment in their developmental area before they can apply for their Indiana license.

CPR Licensure Requirement

Per Indiana Code 20-28-5-3(c), applicants applying for a TTT permit, alternative Special Education license, or an initial teaching license must have successfully completed training in:

- Cardiopulmonary resuscitation that includes a test demonstration on a mannequin;
- Removing a foreign body causing an obstruction in an airway, and the Heimlich Maneuver;
- Beginning July 1, 2011, the use of an automated external defibrillator (AED); and
- Hold a valid certification in each of these procedures from either the American Red Cross or the American Heart Association or other providers as approved by the department.

An initial teaching license is the first license issued to an applicant, regardless of content area or setting. Effective July 1, 2012, the requirements above must be met for all license and permit renewals. Applicants for initial licensure of any type and applicants for all renewals must show proof of valid CPR/AED/Heimlich certification.

CPR-Heimlich Maneuver training may be delivered primarily online, but it must include a "hands-on" training/demonstration component with a mannequin.

Suicide Prevention Training

Effective July 1, 2013, the department may not issue a TTT permit, alternative Special Education license, or an initial teaching license (includes instructional, student services and administrative licenses) at any grade level to an applicant unless the applicant shows evidence that the applicant has successfully completed education and training on the prevention of child suicide and the recognition of signs that a student may be considering suicide.

Financial Aid

Transition to Teaching students may be eligible to borrow money through the Federal Direct Stafford Loan program to help with the costs of the TTT program. Taylor University follows federal laws and regulations concerning financial aid. Students interested in financial aid should contact the Financial Aid Office at 765-998-5358.

Transfer Credit from Other Institutions

Students seeking admission to the Transition to Teaching program may have earned course credits that are applicable to the program, which will be determined by the initial transcript audit. Only courses with a grade of B- or better will be accepted, and courses older than 7 years are generally not accepted.

Student Teaching Waiver

Some candidates may be or have been employed as classroom teachers; therefore, the director has the authority to waive student teaching based upon at least two years of experience, positive teacher evaluations, and recommendations from administration. It will be the candidate's responsibility to provide documentation of successful classroom experience. Substitute teaching and/or working as an instructional aide does NOT qualify to waive student teaching.

Course Extensions and Re-takes

Students taking courses within the open enrollment term are eligible for one 4-month extension per course. The fee for a 4-month extension is $250. Extension requests and payment of the fee must be received prior to the due date of the course. If a course is not completed within the original enrollment period and the student does not request an extension, or if a student cannot complete the course by the end of the extension period, a grade of "F" is issued.

Students are allowed only one opportunity to re-take a course. Students have the option of re-enrolling in the course and, while the old course and grade remain on the transcript, only the new grade from the repeated course will be counted in the cumulative statistics.

Candidate Disclosure Policy

Candidates in teacher education courses are required to self-report in writing any criminal legal proceeding in which the candidate is involved. Moreover, after being accepted into the TTT program, the program participant must also self-report in writing any criminal legal proceeding in which he/she becomes involved. The self-report should be submitted to the Director of TTT. For purposes of this policy, a "criminal legal proceeding" means an arrest or conviction for a criminal offense of any kind. A self-report pursuant to this policy must be made as soon as the candidate or program participant becomes aware of the criminal legal proceeding. Failure to self-identify as required by this policy may result in consequences deemed appropriate by the university including, but not limited to, immediate removal from the TTT program.

APA Format

All written materials submitted for professional education courses must use the guidelines of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA). These guidelines include production of text as well as documentation of print and electronic sources.

DISPOSITIONS

Dispositions are the values, commitments, and professional ethics that influence behaviors toward students, colleagues, and communities and affect student learning, motivation, and development as well as the educator’s own professional growth. Dispositions are guided by beliefs and attitudes related to values such as caring, fairness, honesty, responsibility, and social justice.

Instructors will be using the following rubric at various points during the program to ensure that TTT students display the dispositions of a qualify educator.

ACADEMIC GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE FOR STUDENTS

Academic Grievance and Grade Changes

Procedures have been established to provide fair process of any academic complaint registered by a student. These procedures are part of the University's commitment to maintaining a climate of openness and justice in all areas of academic life. The objective is to provide fair treatment of both any student who registers an academic complaint and any faculty member, and any other academic staff member, who is accused of unfairness toward a student. The first step for students who believe unfair treatment has occurred in their academic experience is to make contact with the respective faculty member or academic staff person to discuss the issue. Then, if necessary, the student should discuss the issue with the Taylor University Online office. If the issue is still not resolved, Taylor University Online will initiate a formal grievance process.

All requests for change of grade (except from an extension) are initiated by the student with the professor of record and then approved by the Dean. Questions regarding a grade should be directed to the professor within sixty days (60) of the final submission for the course (exam or lesson).

Program Withdrawal

The withdrawal process requires the student to complete, sign, and date an official withdrawal form. All incomplete coursework will be subject to standing academic and refund policies. A withdrawn student is still responsible for any outstanding financial obligations.

Program withdrawal will occur automatically for any student not actively enrolled in at least one course per year.

Readmission Procedure

Students who wish to reenter the TTT program may need to submit an updated application and background check for acceptance. If changes are made to the program while the student is withdrawn, the student will be required to follow the catalog for the year of re-admittance. Students will be subject to the current tuition rate at the time of readmission.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

As a Christ-centered intentional community, everything we do and say reflects our identity in Christ and our position as a part of this community; thus, integrity in all areas of life is critical to our own spiritual life and is equally critical to the life of the Taylor community.

Academic dishonesty constitutes a serious violation of academic integrity and scholarship standards at Taylor that can result in substantial penalties, at the sole discretion of the University, including but not limited to denial of credit in a course as well as dismissal from the University. Any act that involves misrepresentation regarding the student's academic work or that abridges the rights of other students to fair academic competition is forbidden. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating on assignments or exams, plagiarizing, submitting the same (or substantially the same) paper in more than one course without prior consent of all instructors concerned, depriving others of necessary academic sources, sabotaging another student's work, and using without attribution a computer algorithm or program. In short, a student violates academic integrity when he or she claims credit for any work not his or her own (words, ideas, answers, data, program codes, music, etc.) or when a student misrepresents any academic performance or has a peer or AI help complete the assignment. All major acts of academic dishonesty, as defined herein, must be reported by the faculty member to Carrie Meyer at carrie_meyer@taylor.edu. Departments and/or professors may have discipline- or course-specific policies.

Plagiarism

Definition: In an instructional setting, plagiarism occurs when a person presents or turns in work that includes someone else's ideas, language, or other (not common-knowledge^[1]) material without giving appropriate credit to the source.^[2]

Taylor distinguishes between major and minor plagiarism infractions. Examples of minor infractions include inappropriate or inadequate citing or not crediting ideas from class readings. Examples of major infractions include taking significant portions of text from any source with no attribution or having a peer or AI software help write the paper. Taylor also distinguishes between collaboration, writer's feedback, and plagiarism: collaboration and getting feedback on one's own writing are essential parts of the writing process; however, having a text altered for the writer is not. The level of appropriate collaboration on individual writing assignments is up to each professor, and each professor should make it clear to his or her students what level of collaboration is appropriate for each writing assignment (i.e. brainstorming with other classmates for ideas). Writer's feedback means having a peer or a Writing Center tutor work with the student to provide suggestions for revision in ways that allow the student author to maintain ownership; this is not plagiarism. However, having a peer make changes to the organization, ideas, paragraphs, or sentences for the student demonstrates a level of ownership over the work; thus, these acts would be considered plagiarism.

¹Common knowledge means any knowledge or facts that could be found in multiple places or as defined by a discipline, department, or faculty member.

²Adapted from the Writing Program Administrators: "Defining and Avoiding Plagiarism: The WPA Statement on Best Practices" <<http://www.wpacouncil.org>>.

Some examples of plagiarism:

1. Not giving credit to the original source—electronic or print
2. Copying passages or phrases without attributing them
3. Not using quotation marks where needed
4. Having a peer alter the paper for the student
5. Downloading a paper electronically from a web source or from another student
6. Intentionally aiding another student's act of plagiarism

Policy: All major acts of plagiarism must be reported by the faculty to the Office of the Provost and the Office of Student Affairs. The student and faculty member involved will receive a copy of the completed plagiarism incident report. All incident reports will be archived in both Academic Affairs and Student Affairs and will be viewed and used solely by the deans of these offices to track plagiarism incidents in order to catch patterns of behavior. This tracking will affect student consequences for any additional plagiarism incidents reported and may affect recommendations for off-campus student activity participation. Plagiarism records in Academic Affairs' and Student Affairs' offices will be destroyed along with all other student records according to their respective policies.

Best practices for avoiding plagiarism^[3]:

Students will avoid plagiarism by learning:

1. how to summarize and paraphrase appropriately.
2. how to give appropriate acknowledgement of all sources and ideas, even when what is appropriate may change depending on the discipline.
3. to contact the faculty member whenever they are unsure about appropriate acknowledgement of sources or ideas.

Faculty will teach students how to avoid plagiarism by:

1. including a plagiarism statement in course syllabi and discuss that statement with students (in all appropriate courses).
2. teaching the requirements and procedures for properly citing sources within the discipline.
3. modeling recognition of sources whenever appropriate on materials you obtained from another source (e.g., handouts, any image or text you put on PowerPoint).
4. trying to create assignments that make it unlikely that students would plagiarize.

Administrators will encourage a climate of academic integrity by:

1. publicizing all policies related to academic integrity, including ethical research, copyright practices, special internet issues, and plagiarism.
2. providing adequate support services for students who need extra help in learning how to conduct academic research (Zondervan Library, Academic Enrichment Center, and Writing Center).
3. providing opportunities for students to discuss plagiarism issues.

The InTASC Model Core Teaching Standards

The Learner and Learning

Standard #1: Learner Development

The teacher understands how learners grow and develop, recognizing that patterns of learning and development vary individually within and across the cognitive, linguistic, social, emotional, and physical areas, and designs and implements developmentally appropriate and challenging learning experiences.

Standard #2: Learning Differences

The teacher uses understanding of individual differences and diverse cultures and communities to ensure inclusive learning environments that enable each learner to meet high standards.

Standard #3: Learning Environments

The teacher works with others to create environments that support individual and collaborative learning, and that encourage positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self motivation.

Content Knowledge

Standard #4: Content Knowledge

The teacher understands the central concepts, tools of inquiry, and structures of the discipline(s) he or she teaches and creates learning experiences that make these aspects of the discipline accessible and meaningful for learners to assure mastery of the content.

Standard #5: Application of Content

The teacher understands how to connect concepts and use differing perspectives to engage learners in critical thinking, creativity, and collaborative problem solving related to authentic local and global issues.

Instructional Practice

Standard #6: Assessment

The teacher understands and uses multiple methods of assessment to engage learners in their own growth, to monitor learner progress, and to guide the teacher's and learner's decision making.

The teacher seeks appropriate leadership roles and opportunities to take responsibility for student learning, to collaborate with learners, families, colleagues, other school professionals, and community members to ensure learner growth, and to advance the profession.

FIELD EXPERIENCES

Field experiences are considered a vital part of teacher preparation. In all TTT programs beginning with the first professional education class and continuing throughout the programs, field experiences are required. The culmination of these field experiences occurs with a ten-week, full-time student teaching experience. During the student teaching experience, a candidate is expected to assume the total responsibilities of a classroom teacher.

Field Experience Forms

Candidates are required to submit various forms for each field experience. The forms are to be completed by the candidate and electronically forwarded to the TTT professor and the TTT office (ttt@taylor.edu). The form will be placed in the candidate's file.

Diverse Field Placement Information

Candidates are required to submit a Diverse Field Placement Information Form for each field experience. The form is to be completed by the candidate from school demographic data. The form is to be electronically forwarded to the TTT office (ttt@taylor.edu). The form will be placed in the candidate's file in the TTT office at Taylor University. At least one of the field experiences needs to be in a diverse setting. The student teaching course instructor will review the previous diverse field placement settings to help select an appropriate student teaching setting to ensure a candidate's opportunity to work with students in diverse school settings.

Appearance Reflects a Professional Image

Since teachers are highly visible to students and to the general public, they are expected to be dressed professionally. Some school districts have dress codes for their teachers. Taylor University students who are pursuing teaching licenses must also be prepared to function as teachers, which means they must behave, dress and carry their responsibilities in an appropriate manner.

To maintain and promote these essentials, Taylor University students seeking a license to teach are expected to know and adhere to the following guidelines while visiting public or private schools at any time during field experiences.

What is Appropriate?

1. Dress in a manner consistent with responsibilities
2. Dress in a manner that communicates to others pride in personal appearance
3. Dress in a manner that does not cause ill-feelings to others in the school
4. Be groomed in such a way that dress, hair style or jewelry does not disrupt the education process or cause a health or safety hazard
5. Dress in accordance with host school requirements
