Fall Music, Theatre, and Dance 24 @ Taylor Campus Visit & Audition Days: November 11 & 12
Winter Music, Theatre, and Dance Campus Visit & Audition Days: February 17 & 18

All prospective music majors and minors applying for Fall 2019 must complete an audition for scholarship consideration by March 15, 2019. You may audition in person or by video. To schedule an audition at Taylor, please contact our program assistant Lisa Royal at (765) 998-5232 or email lstroyal@taylor.edu. A minimum of one-week advanced notice is required for scheduling auditions. Please contact the music office for specific audition requirements.

There are several types of awards available to outstanding music majors or minors:

- Music Scholarship Awards - presented to outstanding high school seniors and transfer students who are committed to a career in music. The total award amounts vary depending on the student’s musical ability and the needs of the Department of Music, Theatre, and Dance. These awards are renewable each year that a student continues as a music major, but students must reapply each year to the department for renewal. To qualify for these awards, students must declare music as a major, complete a Department of Music, Theatre, and Dance Student Information form available from Lisa Royal, and audition in person or video. Students who audition for these awards must follow audition guidelines and demonstrate outstanding proficiency and musicianship.

- Music Minor Applied Lesson Awards - presented to outstanding high school seniors and transfer students who are planning to minor in music. These awards vary in amount and are renewable each year that a student continues as music minor, but students must reapply to the department for renewal. To qualify for these awards, students must declare music as their minor, complete a Department of Music, Theatre, and Dance Student Information form available from Lisa Royal, and audition in person or video. Students who audition for these awards should follow audition guidelines and demonstrate outstanding proficiency and musicianship.

- Ensemble Participation Awards - presented to a limited number of students interested in instrumental ensemble participation. Students chosen for these awards have typically demonstrated outstanding musical skills in solo performance. The amounts of these awards may vary and are renewable, but students must reapply to the department each year. To qualify for these awards, students must complete a Department of Music, Theatre, and Dance Student Information form, available from Lisa Royal and audition in person or video. Students who audition for these awards should follow audition guidelines and demonstrate outstanding proficiency and musicianship. Students must commit to participate in the selected ensemble for a full year to receive the award.

- Music Endowed Scholarship Awards - presented annually to Taylor upperclassmen who are music majors. These awards vary in amount and are designated for students who meet the endowed award specific criteria. Music Endowed awards are renewable to music majors who continue in good standing. Students must reapply to the department for renewal each year.
