

RUSSELL B. PULLIAM

russell.pulliam@indystar.com

Indianapolis, IN

Professional Experience

- Indianapolis Star, Indianapolis, Indiana – 1999 to present
Associate Editor, Columnist and Director of the Pulliam Journalism Fellowship national program that places 20 of the best university journalism juniors and seniors from across the nation in $650/week paid reporting internship fellowships for 10 weeks each summer at the Indianapolis Star and Arizona Republic.
- Indianapolis News, Indianapolis, Indiana –1978-1999
Editorial Page Editor supervising and writing opinion pieces for the opinion page.
- The Associated Press, New York City, New York –1971-1976
Served as reporter for this national/international wire service in New York City, covering breaking news on big stories back in the 1970s, including the bankruptcy of New York City.
- Springfield Union, Berkshire Eagle, North Adams Transcript & Williamstown News – 1969-71
Wrote stories for these papers as a freelance writer while a student at Williams College.
- The New York Times – 1969-70
Wrote stories for this newspaper as a freelance writer while a student at Williams College.
- World Magazine – 2000 to present
Wrote articles for this national news magazine and serves on its board of directors.
- Magazine Freelance Writing – 1978 to present
Wrote articles for variety of magazines, including but not limited to: National Review, Moody Magazine, Christianity Today among others.

Teaching Experience

- Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana – served as an adjunct professor of journalism
- Taylor University, Upland, Indiana – serves as journalism guest lecturer
- World Journalism Institute, Dordt, Iowa – serves as an adjunct professor of journalism
- High School Writing Class – has volunteered for many years to teach a group 12 or so high school-age homeschool students the ins and outs of journalistic style writing, along with reading of the classics

Awards

- Awards from Hoosier State Press Assn., SPJ and United Press International.

Education

- Williams College, Bachelor of Arts, 1971
Williamstown, Massachusetts